The Clubhouse Meeting and Event Center

One of the most unique facilities in Bur-Mil Park is the Clubhouse Meeting and Event Center. Known as “the best deal in town” for weddings, parties, and corporate functions, the Clubhouse is a full service facility with rooms to fit any occasion. The Clubhouse has undergone a “face-lift”, and although we have a new look we still offer the same reasonable prices! Our in-house caterer, Culinary Visions, can take care of your food needs. Are you looking for a place to host a corporate meeting, workshop, or conference? The Clubhouse offers special weeknight rates. Please call 373-3803 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Volunteering at Bur-Mil Park

Bur-Mil Park succeeds in its mission because of the dedication and commitment from people who are willing to give their time to make our community a better place to live. Bur-Mil offers multiple ways for you to give back to the community through its volunteer program. Volunteering at Bur-Mil can be anything from helping plant a garden to assisting employees during a special event like the Fall Festival. Of course Bur-Mil offers indoor volunteering positions as well. These positions range from greeting visitors and taking care of animals at the Wildlife Education Center to answering telephones and helping in the office. If you have a skill you would like to put to good use, let us know. We are always looking for ways to get the community involved. For more information about how you can help out give us a call at 373-3819. Zack MacKenzie (pictured on the far left), who completed his Eagle Scout project in the Wildlife Education Center. Zack, along with some friends (also pictured) created a Naturalist's Library for the center.

Environmental Education at the Frank Sharpe Jr. Wildlife Education Center

The Wildlife Center at Bur-Mil Park is home to a multitude of different opportunities for environmental education for people of all ages. From formal seminars for educators to nature crafts for children, we have something for everyone. Our programs “Living the Wild Life” and “Growing the Green Way” have been recognized by the National League of Cities for their excellence and contribution to promoting the ideas of conservation and sustainability. The center also includes many different hands-on wildlife exhibits featuring animals such as reptiles, birds, and other interesting specimens. Our Wildlife Center Attendant will be happy to give you a tour (you don’t have to touch the snakes if you don’t want to), and best of all its free of charge! Visit our website at www.burmilpark.org or give us a call at 336-373-3802 for more information or to register for a class, and as always you are more than welcome to stop by! For large groups, please call in advance so we can set up something special for you!
